Lisette Victoria San Pedro is a Vero Beach estate planning attorney and member of Gould Cooksey Fennell's Estate Planning & Tax Group. She assists high-net-worth individuals and families with estate planning, wealth preservation strategies, and related tax planning matters.

Prior to joining the firm, Lisette Victoria gained experience in both litigation and transactional matters as a big law summer associate. She conducted legal research, drafted motions and memoranda, attended depositions, and assisted attorneys with matters involving trusts and estates, real estate, intellectual property, and other areas of law.

Lisette Victoria earned her Juris Doctor from Duke University School of Law, where she served as a teaching assistant in Ocean and Coastal Law, was a research assistant in Torts, and worked over 150 hours each semester of her 3L year with Duke's Environmental Law and Policy Clinic and the Health Justice Clinic. Lisette Victoria also worked with Duke's AI Advanced Audits clinic and the Legal Aid of North Carolina to audit, test, and red-team AI and algorithmic products to improve free legal services for Spanish speakers across North Carolina.

At Duke, she also held a leadership position with the Latin American Law Students Association and First Class, which is a community for first-generation college graduates and students from low-income backgrounds. Lisette Victoria graduated magna cum laude from Wake Forest University with a Bachelor of Arts in Anthropology, where she was a Magnolia Scholar and earned Dean's List honors all eight semesters. She is fluent in Spanish.
