Danielle S. Brouillette is a Vero Beach estate planning attorney and member of Gould Cooksey Fennell's Estate Planning & Tax Group. She assists high-net-worth individuals and families with estate planning, wealth preservation strategies, and related tax planning matters.

Danielle works with clients to develop estate plans tailored to their long-term goals, family dynamics, and financial objectives. Her practice also includes assisting individual and corporate fiduciaries with probate and trust administration matters, helping clients navigate the legal and administrative responsibilities involved in carrying out an estate plan.

She earned her Juris Doctor and Master of Laws (LL.M.) in Taxation from the University of Florida Levin College of Law, where she served on the Florida Law Review and completed a Semester in Practice as a Tax Fellow with the U.S. House of Representatives Ways and Means Committee. Danielle holds undergraduate degrees in Political Science and Criminal Justice from Kentucky Wesleyan College.
